

Christian's Shopping Spree

Christian is a creative 10-year-old boy who loves to write, paint and, of course, play! When asked what his one, true wish was, Christian knew he wanted to go shopping.

For an extra special experience, Six Flags donated tickets to the park for a day of active fun. Christian, his mom, dad and brother spent the day darting from ride to ride and enjoying the sites at the park. The day of rides didn't slow Christian down at all; he was ready for the big shopping spree!

The next day, Christian and his family went to the Parks at Arlington Mall and shopped until the stores closed that night! They stopped for a short break at noon and enjoyed lunch at the Black-Eyed Pea, per Christian's request. After they finished, it was back into the mall for shoes, hats, sunglasses, and much more.

Christian's mom said, 'It was really nice day because I could spend time with my son and he can buy things he wants that I cannot give him. He was very excited and we had a very nice experience.'

Christian's wish was generously sponsored by the

Irving Police Association

